THE VITRIOL-THROWER AND HER HUSBAND JUGGED.

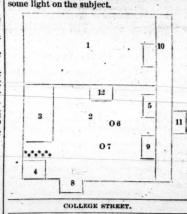

They Go to Jail with Apparent Resignation-Some Additional Light on the Crime-The Theory of Posted

The Rozelle-Petrie vitriol-throwing case

The Rozelle-Petrie vitriol-throwing case was talked of more yesterday than ever. It was the main topic of conversation all day, and almost everybody seemed to rejoice to think that the woman had been arrested. Her arrest was noted in yesterday's Times, and at 9:30 o'clock a.m. Constable Ed Smith and at 9:30 o'clock a.m. Constable Ed Smith marched into Justice Austin's courtroom in company with the woman and her blonde husband. The man and woman looked as if they had passed a comfortable night, but the officer's eyes showed that they had not remained closed all night. He took the parties to their room, on College street, Thursday evening, after they left the courtroom, and informed them that he intended to remain in the room all night. To seek to remain in the room all night. To make things doubly secure, he searched Rozelle, and found that he was armed. The officer took his pistol away from him, and made for himself a pallet just inside of the door. took his pistol away from him, and made for himself a pallet just inside of the door. Rozelle wanted to put the light out, but Smith would not consent to such proceedings, as he did not know but there might be some more vitrol in the room. The woman retired to the closet, and was soon ready for bed. Smith stretched out across the door, but he did not sleep. The man and wife kept up a whispering for quite a while, but they finally went to sleep, and the officer had no more trouble with them.

When Mrs. Rozelle was called to the bar for arraignment. yesterday morning, she pleaded not guilty, and her bail was fixed at $1000. Her husband stated that it would be impossible for them to give it, and she was committed to the County Jail. Rozelle accompanied his wife and Smith to the jail, and she was locked up and made as comfortable as possible. Shortly after this Rozelle returned to Justice Austin's court and was about to ask for a permit to visit his wife at the County Jail, when Constable Smith arrested him as an accomplice to the crime. He said he was glad of it for he wanted to be with his wife in her trouble if possible. He was arraigned, pleaded not guilty and his bail was fixed at $1000. The preliminary examination of both was fixed for the 27th inst. Both of them refused to make any statement yesterday. They both declared that all of the statements reported to have been made by them, or either of them, are false in every particular, and especially the alleged interview published in yesterday's Herald. They say they will have a long statement to make in a few days, and will have Petrie arrested. It is learned that Mrs. Rozelle's maiden name was Grettia Smith, and that her mother lives in Elmira, N. Y. Her father, who was a sea-captain, died a few months ago, and left quite a fortune. She married Rozelle in Elmira, five years ago.

The following cut of the room in which the terrible tragedy took place may throw some light on the subject.

-Door to her roo -Chair. -Rocking-chair. -Bay window. Entrance to stairs.

12—Closet. —Spots where vitriol burned the carpet.

10—Door to Petrle's room.

12—Closet.

—Spots where vitriol burned the carpet. •

It will be remembered that Petrie said he took a seat in the chair (No. 7), and that when he refused to let Mrs. Rozeile sit on his lap she walked to the closet and came for him with a teacup in her hand. At the foot of the bed, and between it and the washstand, the carpet is badly burned. The space between the bed and the bureau is, so small that a man can hardly pass to the wall, and yet Petrie must have done so to get away from the woman, as she was between him and the door. The acid did not strike the wall higher than two inches above the floor, and of course he could not have been standing up, or it would have spattered the wall much higher up. This goes to show that, in his mad efforts to get away from her, he crouched down on the floor and turned his face just in time to get the contents of the cup. Mrs. Rozelle, on the other hand, has stated that he was trying to put her on the bed, and she got away from him. Had this been the case the acid never would have struck the toor where it did.

The gossips had a new story yesterday, and it comes from the neighborhood of the College-street house. They say that Mrs. Rozelle and Petrle were intimate for a long time, even before they took up their quarters at Mr. Martin's, but that Petrie began to pay attention to another woman a short time ago, and Mrs. Rozelle became very jealous. She did all in her power to regain his love, and when she falled she made up her mind to be revenged in some way; so she told her husband that Petrie had insulted her, and she fully expected that he would punish Petrie in some way. But he did not show a disposition to blow Petrie's brains out. He told her that if the man ever troubled her again to throw vitriol in his face, and he went so far as to prepare the acid, so that she could use it at a moment's notice. The gentleman who started this story is said to be a well-known business man, who knows all about Petrie's love affairs

PROPERTY-OWNERS MEET TO NIGHT TO DISCUSS IT.

Special Meeting of Council Yester-day to Canvass the Matter-Shall It Be Bituminous Lime-rock or

A special meeting of the Council was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of talking over paving matters, and principally for the purpose of devising means for paving Main and Spring streets from the junction of Alameda street to Ninth. The chairman stated that the ob-can take action at its meeting Monday afternoon.

It was finally decided that the meeting will be held this (Saturday) evening at 7:30 o'clock, at Justic Austin's courtroom.

The property-holders will be notified by circulars and through the newspapers.
The property-holders will vote this evening on the material to be used by the number of feet they own.

Mr. Lövell thought the street railroad companies ought to have some say as to the material to be used in the center of the tracks. Mr. Goss was of the same opinion.

City Attorney Daly was asked for an opinion as to whether the Council could compel the companies—could say what material is to be used by the companies. He thought the railroad people would have to use the material selected by the property-holders, as there is an ordinance to that effect.

to that effect.

Mr. Frankenfield thought they should be allowed to say whether they would prefer granite or asphaltum. They use the street more than any one else, and he thought it would be quite a hardship on them to use store.

stone. Mr. Jones said he understood that the railroad companies had to pave a certain number of feet on each side of the track, and he did not believe that proper joints could be made, but for the inside of the track he thought they should be allowed to select the material best suited to their horses. He thought, also, that the people should be allowed to divide upon the material for the streets, so that all could be satisfied in the selection of material.

Joseph Shearer, the granite contractor of San Francisco, was asked for his opinion as to whether granite could be used by the railroad people or not. He was of the opinion that they could use it, but it would be hard to do.

Mr. Lovell's motion to allow a majority of the owners per front foot to select the material then came up, and, after discussion, it was decided to make it into two sections. That is, the sections shall be south and north of Second street. They decided to leave the matter in the hands of the property-holders south of Second street.

they may require.

It was also moved and carried that the Board of Public Works be allowed to vote the property belonging to the city.

COL. MARKHAM.

He Gives Some Sensible Views About

Pavements.
Col. H. H. Markham, who made a close study of the beautifully-paved streets of Washington, D. C., during his residence there while in Congress, was seen by a Times reporter yesterday, and on being questioned regarding the pavements, he

"It is authoritatively stated that the city of Washington has 160 miles in length of paved streets. The pavements consist of Belgian granite, cobble-stones, Neufchatel, concrete or asphalt, wood, macadam and "It is also stated that a majority of this pavement is of concrete. Every one in pavement is of concrete. Every one in driving or riding seeks the asphalt and avoids all others, where possible. The concrete is as smooth as a house-floor—clean, noiseless, absolutely free from dust, except that which is carried on from other streets, requiring no sprinkling in the daytime. Streets thus paved are the pride of Washington, and as much-admired by non-residents and foreigners as any feature of the capital."

dents and foreigners as any feature of the capital."

"How about the cost?"

"I know but little of its cost or durability, but judge that both are satisfactory, as little or no other pavement is now being put down in Washington. The only objection ever urged against it in Washington was that, in extremely cold weather, ice formed on its smooth surface, causing horses not very sharply shod to slip and fall, but, when not frozen, it has elasticity or spring, making it absolutely the easiest pavement for horses to travel on that can be made. You can speed a horse on it without fear of injuring his feet or legs, which all lovers of horsefiesh appreciate. Again, it must be a great saving on light carriages over any other pavement. I was particularly interested in this kind of pavement, as I was, and still am, in hopes that a company could or can be formed that will pave a road or boulevard from Los Angeles to Pasadena with that kind of pavement; but, owing to press of other business, I have not as yet settled the question of cost or practicability of such an enterprise. I am confident, however, that our people in both places would esteem it a great blessing could a drive be furnished of that kind between the two places. I have no knowledge of the material which is proposed to be used from San Luis Obispo, though I am informed that it is equal, if not superior, to that used in Washington."

"How about the comparative merits of granite blocks and a first-class concrete, Colonel?"

"There is absolutely no comparison. Even granite is not indestructible, and it is hard on horses and frightfully noisy. A composition pavement, on the contrary, is easy on the horse, and makes comparatively no noise."

AN INTERESTING LETTER.
The following letter from the well-known Dr. Kords is of Interest:

purpose of talking over paving matters, and principally for the purpose of devising means for paving Main and Spring streets from the function of Alaueda street to Ninth. The chairman stated that the object of the meeting was to fix a time for a meeting of the property-holders, who, in conjunction with the Council, will decide as to the material to be used.

Mr. Lovell said he understood that Saturday night was the time selected by the property-holders to meet the Council, but the thought they should be given a week.

Mr. Goss said that he had talked to a great many property-holders, and they were all in favor of holding the meeting this evening. He was not in favor of putting it off. The contractors are in the city, and are anxious to have the matter disposed of as soon as possible, and he himself thought it volumes are not becoming warmed up to the matter.

Clerk Teed read the resolution regarding the paving of the above-mentioned streets.

Mr. Hiller moved that Monday evening be the time fixed, but the chairman stated that the opera company would be here on that evening, and he thought that Saturday evening would be the better time. Mr. Hiller offered to change his motion to read Mr. Lovell did not think that the property-holders would have time enough, and did not want them to say that they may be clock, at Justic Austin's courtroom.

I am little Emma Harden. My mamma left me here on your steps because papa (she says) is a bad, wicked man, and left my poor mamma before I came into this world, so cruel and heartless (as mamma calls it). She wants you, please, to be kind to me for just a little while, until she is well, then at the beginning of July she will assist you in taking care of me by monthly remittances. Now do kindly take me into your keeping, and treat me, as your own, then when I am a big girl I promise to make you happy and proud of me by my lave and obedience to you. Please do not tern me, a poor little wanderer, from your door; I am helpless, cold and hungry. Mamma brought me here because she thought you would be kind. I am tired after telling you so much, so good night. God bless you all.

of the property-holders south of Second street.

Mr. Jones moved to reconsider the motion made by Mr. Lovell.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Jones then moved an amendment to Mr. Lovell's motion to divide the streets into two sections, which reads that the property-holders on either side of the dividing line shall be allowed to select the material for their side.

The Board of Public Works reported on the bids now on file and recommended the adoption of the bids for granite and bituminous rock, as the Council has to select two materials proposed by bid. The lowest bidders were Dobinson & Fairchild for bituminous rock, and Joseph Shearer for granite. Received and referred to betitizens' meeting this evening.

with the fine so that water factories, why yet make this a desirable and productive section.

Just at Lordsburg the foothills upon the south cease, and the valley widens out to an extent of some twelve or fifteen miles, and the valley changes its name from San Gabriel to Pomona. The country is covered here for miles with young orchards of alk kinds of fruit, and vineyards; and the cocks of barley hay, and intervening grainfields, have a very "down-east" appearance. The next station beyond Lordsburg is Palomares, which is in the midst of these fields of plenty and off about four miles to the south lies Pomona, upon the Southern Paclife Railroad. At "Claremont the beautiful," the special makes its first stop since leaving Lamanda Park and takes no board the irrepressible promoter of the "beautiful" town. W. H. Holabird. This gentleman claims a monopoly view of Old Baldy for his town, as it les directly in front of this white peak, and, after passing a few miles beyond, it is hid from sight by intervening mountains. Between Palomares and Claremont is quite a stretch of uncultivated country, covered with scattered trees, and for several miles beyond the latter plain stretch off to north and south broad acres of treeless plains, this landscape being broken here and there by groves, showing where some pioneer has established his home. The train whirls on through North Ontariof and past Magnolia and here the garden fields come in again.

We are close to the mountains now, and, though the sun shines down upon us with some what more than temperate heat, far up their grizzly sides are some canons filled with glistening snow, which is in relieving comparison to the warmth below. For miles on either side now the houses are few and far between. North Cucamonga and Eiwanda are passed, and about six niles from the end of the trip we find a broad and beautiful expanse, just at the foot of Cajon Pass, with a gentle slope, smooth as a floor and no trees to break the view. This is the 50,000-acre tract recently purchased by Maj.

site, Rialta. As there is no well-started town for fifteen miles west of San Bernardino, and this lies in the midst of a beautiful tract, it would seem to have good indications before it. A mile or two from the town is a steam-shovel at work loading cars, and while we wait the excursionists get out to view the land. The ground is covered with wild flowers of endless variety. Mr. Carter secured twenty-six species within a radius of twenty feet by actual count, and the Times man goes one better, getting twenty-seven, in a little larger space.

In five minutes more the train pulls up at the new depot in San Bernardino, and the visitors are condially received by J.N. Victor, superintendent, and F. T. Perris, chief engineer of the California Southern Raliroad. A short time is spent in the inspection of the large, two-story depot and the extensive yards, where the company soon will erect their shops, and where they now have a large number of side-tracks and a big brick roundhouse. The surroundings of this town are very pleasing to the eye. To the north lies the Sierra Madre range, the big, snow-covered peak of San Bernardino Mountain-being to the northeast. Off to the east is an extensive valley, the rich Redlands and beautiful Lugonia; and away beyond is San Jacinto Mountain with a great bank of white upon its summit. And a view down to the south and southwest shows a broad valley with Riverside and her fill background in the distance. At 12:30 an ample lunch is served, to which full justice is done by the guests. Emerging from the hotel a large party of the citizens of San Bernardino is met, who extend cordial greetings, and indicate their intention of accepting the kind invitation that has been extended to them by the company to take a trip to Los Angeles on, who are of the number on the ride home. The invited guests who are going to Los Angeles comprise a number of the leading citizens of San Bernardino, among whom are included H. Yager, County Treasurer; L. DARCY'S DEMAND.

HE IS AFTER THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE,

To Pungle Up the $1000 Reward Which They Offered and He Earned, for the Conviction of an

A suit, which promises to be somewhat sensational, was filed in the office of the County Clerk yesterday by Capt. P. M. Darcy, the well-known Deputy Sheriff. It is styled P. M. Darcy, plaintiff, vs. J. R. Brierly, C. E. Day, J. H. Book, B. W. Lee, Charles Wickman, J. W. Warren, F. J. Gillmore, T. H. Ward, J. M. Damron, F. M. Vanderlip, J. W. Batcheller, George H. Bonebrake and Los Angeles National Bank (a corporation), defendants.

H. Bonebrake and Los Angeles National Bank (a corporation), defendants.
Plaintiff sets forth that the Los Angeles
National Bank is a corporation under the National Bank is a corporation under the Laws of the State.
That defendants, except George H. Bonebrake and the bank, composed the Republican County Executive Committee of Los Angeles county, and had control, in behalf of the Republican party, of the political campaign during the fall of 1886, and were engaged in conducting said campaign on behalf of the Republican county candidates.
That one of their objects was to prevent idlegal voting, at the election of November 2d, and to secure the arrest and conviction of persons violating the penal code concerning voting; and (on information and belief) that about October 25th, defendants caused $2500 to be paid to George H. Bonebrake and the Los Angeles National Bank, to be held in trust as a reward any person who should secure the arrest and conviction of any illegal voter.
That after said sum had been so deposited the defendants caused to be published in the daily newspapers of Los Angeles, for several days preceding the election, the following notice:

REWARD.

REWARD.

REWARD.

$2500 GOLD COLN.

The Republican Executive County Committee offer the above reward for the detection of the buying of votes or frabdulent voting on election day, to wit: $1000 for the first arrest and conviction; $750 for the second: $500 for the third, and $250 for the fourth. The offer holds good for every precinct in the county. The above cash is deposited with the Los Angeles National Bank. We invite the Demoratic Committee to put up the coin, instead of promises, and assist the Republicans in protecting the purity of the ballot-box.

J. H. BOOK, Secretary.

of promises, and assist the Republicans in protecting the purity of the ballot-box.

J. H. Book, Secretary.
The amount of $2500 has been placed in my hands for the purposes mentioned above.

GEORGE H. BONEBRAKE.
President Los Angeles National Bank.
That plaintiff read the said notice prior to election, and relied upon it. And acting upon such belief he did, on the day of election, for the purpose of earning said reward, engage in watching for violations of the election laws, and detected one S. M. McGovern in the act of voting the second time; arrested him, and on November 4th filed a complaint against him in Justice R. Ranney's court, and caused him to be convicted of said offense November 6th.
That McGovern was the first person convicted or arrested for violation of the laws at said election, and that plaintiff is therefore entitled to said reward of $1000.
That plaintiff believes said $1000 to be still in the possession of George H. Bonebrake and the bank aforesaid for the purpose aforesaid, and plaintiff has often demanded the same of the defendants, but they wholly refused to pay the same or any part thereof.

For a further and second cause of action, plaintiff alleges that the defendants are included to him in the sum of $1000—to wit: the $1000 received by defendents within one year and belonging to plaintiff—wherefore plaintiff prays judgment for $1000 and costs of suit.

The Dakota Bell calls attention to a serious abuse in interstate commerce: "There is one abuse of interstate commerce," said Morrison the first day the commission met. "which should be attended to at once," "What do you refer to?" asked Judge Cooley. "This thing of a citizen of Michigan advertising 'a sure exterminator for potato bugs, 25 cents," and when a citizen of Illinois forwards the money, sending him in reply two small blocks of wood, with directions to 'smash your bugs here.' It's a grievance of long standing, and my constituents demand that it be put down."

ROSE ELIZABETH CLEVELAND is a poser, and she attitudinizes for all she is worth. Her editorial freak was not a success, and now she has become associated in the executive manage ment of a fashionable boarding-school in New York city. Rose is not one of those who hide their light under a bushel.

THE California Central line between this city and San Bernardino was duly opened yesterday, and the first passen ger train ran through. An account of the interesting event will be found upon another page. After all that THE Times has said upon the subject, it is hardly necessary now to comment upon the value, to Los Angeles city and county, of this happy consummation.

NEW YORK CITY is taking wise and active measures to improve her sanitary condition. She is making a science of street-cleaning. Her street-cleaner collected 30,000 cartloads of dust and street-droppings last week, making a pretty thorough sweep of her various avenues as they went through them. Los Angeles can show a considerable erop of street-dust now. If there were only some power to scoop it up, it would be a relief, and her people would breathe more freely. The dust emphasizes our need of street-paving hardly less than the winter's mud. When our principal thoroughfares are paved and swept daily, we shall have right to but on metropolitan airs. and can do it with a good deal better his race. His purpose is to attack grace than we can just now. Hurry up in this matter, city fathers!

The Question of Paving.

A meeting of property-owners is to be held at Justice Austin's courtroom this evening to discuss and determine upon the material to be used in the paving of Main and Spring streets. It is all-important that no mistake be made in this feature of public improvements, so long delayed, so irgently required.

Some cities have expended fortunes in paving experiments, and seem to be not much nearer a solution of the question than when they begun. At any rate, their streets have a crazy-quilt aspect of all sorts, kinds and conditions of paving, and the more the authorities repair and relay, the more work of the kind they have on their hands. Los Angeles should profit by the experience of other cities, and not follow any of their follies.

There is an abundance of material in this country to give us choice of kinds.

Granite can be had ad. lib., though we fear it is too noisy and too hard on horses and vehicles. In New Orleans. Boston and other cities where granite is largely in use, the din is almost deafening on the principal thoroughfares. Furthermore, the price of granite blocks offered here—28 cents a cubic foot-seems high as compared with ruling prices in other cities. San Francisco obtains granite blocks at 18 cents a cubic foot.

Modern experience, and especially the experience of California, points most favorably to composite pavements. The various forms of asphaltum or brea are successful to a degree, varying with the skill with which they are compounded and laid.

Bituminous rock, which comes ac credited, after the test of years in Santa Cruz, and which is finding favor in San Francisco and other cities on this coast, is merely an asphaltum compound prepared by Nature. Those best conversant with the subject say that Nature understood herself when she made the mixture, and she got it just right. This bituminous rock is the same as the Neufchatel rock which has been used so largely in the pave ments of Paris, and Paris is said to be the best paved city in the world.

The fact that the combined street railway companies of this city, after investigating bituminous rock, have adopted it as the material to be used in paving their roadways, speaks strongly in its favor, and uniformity. at least, would be secured by spreading the same material over the entire width of the street.

If the property-owners, at their meeting tonight, decide in favor of bituminous rock, we believe they will not be far wrong. They will obtain a no iseles, an elastic, a smooth and a very durable pavement-one that will not unduly soften under the summer's sun nor harden and crack in winter.

True Journalism.

"I fight principles, not men," was the language of one of America's greatest statesmen. It is with principles rather than with individuals that every earnest advocate of the right has to do. The infidel, the swindler, the debauché and dishonest politician are attacked, not so much as individuals as representatives of certain principles and practices injurious to the public good. Society looks to its leaders and to its teachers to take the front in exposing and fighting the wrong.

The great newspaper speaks to a larger audience than any orator, reformer or teacher in the community. may not enter. There is not a department of business where its voice may wrong which it may not help to right. The daily journal is one of the greatest educators of the age. It | faction which his company entertained does more to mold public sentiment, to shape the course of public policy, to foster or suppress revolutionary ideas, and to disseminate general intelligence than any other one agency in the

The possibilities of escape from the just penalties of crime are less today than they ever were before. The newspaper is a good detective, and it should be an honest one. The newspaper carries the history of the guilty wretch's crime everywhere. Even in the desert ne is not safe. He may go into foreign lands, but his record will follow him. He may assume false names, but the photographic power of the newspaper will discover and depict him. The redhanded Chicago Anarchist might once have escaped and lived in safety in Boston, but he cannot do so today. After a quarter of a century's stay in California, living in the guise of honest uprightness, the newspaper has discovered Kissane, and uncovered his past and held his crimes up to the public's just reprobation. A quarter of a century ago, before the era of the daily journal, he was safe. The probability of his ever being confronted by his crimes and brought to justice was comparatively small. He could marry and bring up his children and accumulate wealth without much fear of discovery. The detective eve of this public servant was not upon him. The work of the newspaper is supplemented in this respect by the telegraph The two are inseparable in the world's advancement, and the one could not well be sustained without the other.

The true journalist is no charlatan He is a philanthropist and a lover of his race. His purpose is to attack wrong in the abstract; to expose individuals only so far as the good of the ommunity requires it. But when principles are at stake, and the com-munity is being imposed upon by un-principled and designing schemers, then that journal is at fault which does not boldly denounce and expose individual wrong.

A journal is not worth anything that is not abreast, or even a little in advance, of public sentiment. It should never fall behind it, or evince timidity be bold, conscientious and fearlessthe tool of no party, but the servant of the whole people. It should be consistent, not supporting one policy today and advocating a different one tomorrow. In order for this it must have a fixed and definite principle of action, based upon conviction rather than selfinterest. Such a newspaper will have the respect and confidence of the community, even if it makes enemies among those whose policy it assails. But the object of such a journal is to know the right and to defend it. Selfinterest is overshadowed by the larger interests of the general public. The best interests of the community are what it seeks to foster. Journalism is not, with it, a mere makeshift as a means of livelihood, but a profession demanding its best efforts. As such it is studied and sought to be made honorable. It is held too high to be made use of for selfish or mercenary purposes. It cannot be bought. It cannot be terrorized. It cannot be crushed.

The present newspaper age has in it some elements of evil. There are many men in the journalistic profession who have but small conception of what real journalism involves. It is nothing more to them than one of the many methods of earning their bread and butter. They enter into its arena without having decided upon any fixed policy for the control of its columns and without having once considered the impersonality of its character. Their columns are open to the highest bidder. Its establishment is regarded merely as an aid to money-getting. Its policy is to be on the winning side of public controversies; to be on the popular side of great agitations. It puts aside all conscience in these matters, and if it makes money it is satisfied.

Such journalism is a curse to any community. Sooner or later it will be rebuked. But it takes courage to be true always to a man's convictions. Such courage is one of the greatest of all necessities in this field. Without it no newspaper is worthy of success, for it falls short of the true spirit and design of the profession.

Another Transcontinental Railway

THE TIMES announced, last Wednesday, the important news that the Union Pacific Railway Company has determined to extend its Utah Southern branch to a connection with the Southern California system, thus se curing a Pacific coast terminus, and a through transcontinental line of its own.

In these times, when railroad companies are obliged to build their lines from their own capital, depending neither on public land grants nor on local subsidies, they do not preface these important steps with a blare of trumpets On the contrary, it is generally to their interest to keep their intentions as quiet as possible, until rights of way are secured and other important contracts are made. The present is an instance in point. When Charles Francis Adams, Jr., president of the Union Pacific system, passed through Los That will be in the natural order of is not a home in the community that it Angeles on a flying trip some months ago, a TIMES reporter who interviewed him ventured a not be heard. There is not a reform | Yankee guess as to this very subject that it may not influence, nor of an extension of the Utah Southern, but Mr. Adams gracefully parried the question by expressing the entire satiswith its present connections. Nevertheless, the logic of the situation was against Mr. Adams's disclaimer, and we have all along held our own opinion of the matter. Great railway corporations do not build branch lines some hundreds of miles into a new country. and leave the termini at points which might be designated as "nowhere," commercially speaking. The universal aspiration is for through business. As to the Union Pacific, it has as much need for a complete transcontinental line of its own as the Central (now Southern) Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé had before they crossed the continent. Indeed, the Union Pacific now has more need than the others, for it is obliged to compete with these through lines for business, and, without its own connect ing rails, it is at their mercy. So much for the situation as it appears from a common-sense point of view, and without conjuring up any professedly expert opinions When the manifest requirements of the case are thus considered, and when direct and reliable information reacher us that the company most interested has determined to improve its oppor tunities, and when this is substantiated by the presence here of the company's locating engineers, we are prone to believe that there is something in the wind. Our readers may rest assured that, within the coming year and a half, the Union Pacific Railway Company will be running its own cars over its own rails into this city. It is a consummation devoutly to be wished. Speed the oncoming line.

Angeles means a great deal more than can be expressed in one brief article. But, for the sake of ready comprehension, if we say that it implies greate benefits than those accruing from any single railroad that has yet reached us. we shall not be far wrong. As the coming of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé line was felt in a more pronounced manner than the coming of the Southern Pacific, so will the third or vacillation.

Of course the newspaper is fallible, and multiply benefits in geometrical ratio. The problem of the horse-shoe nails don't amount to much until we get to multiplying with big figures. Los Angeles and Southern California are now beginning to multiply with big figures. Every horseshoe nail or railroad rail that we add now counts immensely in the sum of the country's prosperity.

Of course there will be special advantages from the Union Pacific's connection which we do not enjoy by the other routes. To begin with, it will open up for the merchants and manu facturers of Los Angeles the portions of Utah and Nevada through which it runs; then it will give us direct commerce with Salt Lake City, and, by connecting roads, with Denver. East-ward lies the important Kansas railroad system, and, at its further focus, that glorous young metropolis, Kansas City. By this route also Chicago, on which Los Angeles is now drawing heavily for supplies will be brought nearer to us than at present by 110 miles. Intimate commercial relations with all of these cities are of the utmost importance, both from the standpoint of buying and selling. They are now our most reliable customers for oranges, fresh and dried fruits, wines, and nearly all of the other high-class products of this country.

It is probable that time will bring to Los Angeles still another important railroad from the northeast in the Carson and Colorado River line. This ha been discussed at length hitherto, and was the subject of resolutions and correspondence by the Board of Trade some months ago. This line, if extended, would open up still another section of the country to our trade, and would make the objective more of a Pacific coast matter. It would reach the whole of Western Nevada, would tap the middle transcontinental line (Central Pacific), and would point ultimately to Oregon. There is room and abundant requirement for this railroad, to secure a terminus in Southern California, and it will doubtless do so.

As to Los Angeles, she might as well confess to being somewhat grasping in the matter of railroads. She will receive a fourth with as much grace as a third, and, while her smiling beneficence is being divided around, there may be "a portion for six, and also for seven." Speed the big railroad lines, the competition and the pros perity which they bring.

THE Mayor and the Board of Health are making a strenuous fight to get the streets decently sprinkled. They will have earned the thanks of the community if they succeed.

The Latest Thing in Dudes.

The Latest Thing in Dudes.
[Oil City Derrick.]

We notice a slight change in the new spring style of dude. His head is shaped still more like a five-cent loaf of bread and his legs are a tride more bowed than last year. This feature in the change of style seems to us superfluous and unnecessary, but we presume it is all right. At any rate we do not propose to rail against the decrees of fashion. The newest dude carries his cane at an angle of forty-five degrees, suspended airily between his thumb and finger. The cane is occasionally changed from one hand to the other, so as not to make the dude lop-sided. The dude's pants are larger this year than formerly, or else the dude himself is shrinking, we are not certain which it is. His collar seems to be an exaggerated shirt-cuff, fastened at the top with sleeve-buttons. If the new spring dude can induce a dog to follow him, so much the better, but we note If the new spring dude can induce a dog to follow him, so much the better, but we note a disinclination on the part of dogs this year to do the following act.

Money in the Cellar and Garret. [Coatesville Times.]

After the Honeybrook township nelphbors and friends laid Augustus Newnabor and wife away to rest in one grave, which they did last week, the house was searched, for it was known that the good wife had somewhere hidden about the premises notes representing securities to the value of several hundred dollars. This money she saved "for a rainy day," unknown to her husband. The searchers were rewarded for their labors by finding securities to the value of about $2000, hidden away in the cellar and garret. The estate will amount to about $5000, which money goes to very distant relatives in Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

Oregon coast on Sunday last, have arrived PORT TOWNSEND (Wash.), May 13.-The crew of the Ocean King, which was burned and abandoned off Coos Bay May 9th, give the following particulars of the disaster: On Saturday, May 7th, during very heavy gales, the sails were blown away and the vessel started to leak. The donkey-engine could not work, as the pump shaft was broken. Owing to the heavy sea the crew had to desert the forecastle and go aft. After this the vessel caught fire, it is supposed from the galley stove. Every attempt was made to quench the flames, but without sucess. On Sunday morning the schooner Angel Dolly, from San Francisco, hove in sight, and sent a boat and took the crew off. Off Cape Flattery the schooner was sighted by the launch of the United States survey steamer C. P. Patterson, and the crew of the wrecked vessel was taken on board and brought to this place, where they arrived to-

of Sue Gum.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—[By the Associated Press.] At 5 o'clock this afternoon the grain in the Mission Bay warehouse, at Channel and Fourth streets, began to bulge, causing such great pressure that the building soon gave way with a loud crash. August Bagun, a 12-year-old son of the night-watchman, was instantly killed by a falling timber, and three laborers were seriously though not fatally injured. There were 3000 tons of grain in the building. The latter was owned by the Southern Pacific Company, and was valued at $4000.

A NEW SMUGGLING TRICK.

The customs officers today seized 115 cases marked "Nut-oil," on the steamer cases marked "Nut-oil," on the steamer Rio Janeiro, which arrived from China on Wednesday. The cases, upon being opened, were found to contain hermetically-sealed cans of opnum placed in the nut-oil. The seizure is valued at $20,000.

Other seizures were also made. It is stated that the Treasury agents at Hong Kong were cognizant that opium would be sent by the Rio Janeiro and the Collector was apprised by telegraph early this morn-sent by the Rio Janeiro and the Collector was apprised by telegraph early this morning. By means of a large, tempered-steel probe the various boxes, cases and baskets of the large consignment of freight were searched through by customs officers, and the result of the investigation was the seizure of several piles of goods, which, by order of the Deputy Collector, were hauled to the seizure-room in the Appraiser's building. The haul comprised about twenty tons of three hundred cases of merchandise, and made three truck loads of contrabands. The total seizure was valued at $60,000—the largest ever made on the coast.

Roaches at a Musical Soiree

[Boston Herald.]
The other night at a new hall in town where some very classical music was being given, two of these terrifying animals wan given, two of these territying animals wandered at their own sweet will among the audience, evidently enjoying the "pleasant noise," if not the disturbance they were creating in more than one feminine nervous system. Scarcely had the alarm their presence caused subsided when the attention of one of the performers was quietly directed to the feet of a man in the front row of seats. Over the shiny leather waltzed half a dozen, more or less, roaches, up and down, over and under, while the auditor, all unconscious of the base uses to which his pedal ornaments were put, continued to scan his programme. When he moved the roaches scampered away, but only to return again when these delightful boots were once more in position. Now you might suppose the blacking excited them. Not a bit. It was the music, because other boots have been likewise favored, though only those near the stage where the stringed instruments could best be heard. ered at their own sweet will among the

An Irish provincial paper inserted the following notice: "Whereas, Patrick O'Connor lately left his lodgings, this is to give notice that if he does not return immediately and pay for the same, he will be advertised." A countryman of the author of the above, not to be outdone in the same line, announced in an Irish journal that, among other portraits, he had a representation of "death as large as life." But one of the latest of Irish bulls is the following from an editorial in one of the leading papers of the Nationalist party the other day: "So long as Ireland was silent under her wrongs, England was deaf to her cries."

UTICA (N. Y.), May 13.—[By the Associated Press.] In view of the severe criticisms made by Gen. Rosser on Gen. Sheridan for the work he did in Virginia during the closing days of the rebellion, the dispatches printed below will be of interest. They are copied from originals which are now in the possession of William Blaikie, of this city. They were transcribed into cipher and sent by S. H. Beckwith, of this city, who at the time was in the secret

CITY POINT (Va.), August 16 (3:30 p.m.), 1864.

Maj.-Gen. Sheridam, Winchester, Va.: If you can possibly spare a division of cavalry, send them through Loudon county to destrey and carry off crops, animals, negroes and all men under 50 years of age capable of bearing arms. In this way you will get many of Mosby's men. All male citizens under 50 can fairly be held as prisoners of war and not as citizen prisoners. If not already soldiers they will be made so, the moment the rebel army gets hold of them. U. S. GRANT. Lieutenant-General.

Maj.-Gen. Sheridan, Charleston, Va.:
In stripping Loudon county of supplies, etc., impress from all loyal persons, so that they may receive pay for what is taken from them. I am informed by the Assixant Secretary of War that Loudon county has a large population of Quakers, who are all favorably disposed to the Union. These people may be exempted from arrest.

Maj.-Gen. Sheridan, Halltown Va.:
Give the enemy no rest, and, if it is possible to follow the Virginia Central road, follow that far. Do all the damage to railroads and crops you can. Carry off stock of all description, and negroes, so as to prevent further planting. If the war is to last another year we want the Shenandoah Valley to remain a barren waste.

JEFF DAVIS.

He Advises the South Not to Fight Again Against the Union. MERIDIAN (Miss.), May 13.—Yesterday morning a public reception was given to Jefferson Davis. For two hours a perfect stream of people passed and shook hands with the ex-chieftain and his beautiful daughter. Last evening a banquet and re-ception was given to Mr. Davis. In reply the toast to himself as the champion of southern rights, he said: "With an inferior number of men we marched onward, fighting for our rights, and battle after battle ing for our rights, and battle after battle was fought and won. But now these scenes and incidents have passed, and they only live in the mind and history. United you are now, and if the Union is ever to be broken, let the other side break it. The army of the South will shine forever around the camp-fires, and will still shine to our children and their children. The truths we fought for shall not encourage you to ever fight again, but to keep your word in good or evil. God bless you all."

MURDER WILL OUT.

Confession of the Two Men Who Killed Mrs. Ernest. New York, May 13.—[By the Associated Press.] James F. Taylor, who, together with Henry Chamberlain, was arrested for the murder of Mrs. Margaret Ernest, in New Haven, has made a detailed confession in writing. He charges Chamberlain with having persuaded him to assist in robbing Mrs. Ernest, and also with being the leader throughout the robbery and murder. A remarkable point connected with the confession is that Chamberlain fully indorses it in the following voluntary statement:

"I, Henry B. Chamberlain, have heard the annexed statement made by James F. Taylor. I am the person mentioned as Henry Clark, and corroborate it in every detail as true. HENRY B. CHAMBERLAIN." Indictments charging them with murde

Characteristic Incident of Railway

Characteristic Incident of Railway
Travel in Kentucky.

[Harper's Magazine.]

One afternoon a half-drunken fellow got on one of the Louisville and Nashville sleeping-cars bound north.

When the conductor showed him to his seat, he found a clean, well-dressed, gentlemanly-looking colored man to be his partner in that section and occuping the seat facing his.

He at once began in a drunken fashion to a seat in another part of the car.

The conductor, to keep the peace and prevent any disturbance in his car, led the indignant patron of old Kentucky bourbon to a seat in another part of the car.

Next morning the drunken man, who was not a bad man at heart, had sobered up considerably, and, with some remembrance of his previous misconduct, went over to the colored man's seat, and commenced to apologize by saying he had been "a little off his base" the evening before, and did not mean any harm by anything he might have said; that he hadn't anything against the "niggers" and was always their friend when they behaved themselves. So he hoped the stranger would see that in anything that had passed he had meant no personal offense to him.

"That is all right, sir," said the colored man, with politeness. "I saw your condihad passed he had meant no personal offense to him.

"That is all right, sir," said the colored man, with politeness. "I saw your condition at once, and, of course, under the circumstances, did not consider you responsible for your acts at that time. Your apology this morning makes the amende honorable. Allow me"—at the same time offering his card to his former persecutor.

The drunken fellow drew back as if he had been shot. "Look a here, Mr. Nigger," he cried, in great excitement, "I had made up my mind to stand the cutaway coat and the stove-pipe hat, but I'll be derned if I can stand a nigger with a kyard."

Though the antiquities which are protected by the Ancient Monuments Act are not numerous, the act itself provides for their being increased in number. By an order in Council, her Majesty may declare that any monument of a like character shall be deemed to be one to which the act applies. In accordance with this provision the Queen has, by order in Council, made this declaration with regard to the six following antiquities: 1, Little Kit's Coty House, or the countiess stones of Tottington at Aylesford, in Kent; 2, the chambered tumulus at Buckholt, in Gloucestershire; 3, the Druid's circle and tumulus on Eyam Moor, in Derbyshire; 4, the Pictish tower of Carloway, in Ross-shire; 5, the Ruthwell Runic cross in Dumfriesshire, and 6, St. Ninian's Cave, at Glasserton, in Wigtownshire. The order is, however, not to come into force until it has laid for forty days before both houses of Parliment.

Matching Dollars During the Play.

[New York World.]

Mr. Raymond's fondness for "matching" amounted almost to a passion. He would match at any time, under any circumstances and for any amount. One night as he walked on the stage at Hooley's Theater, Chicago, as "Colonel Mulberry Sellers," a friend seated in the front row of the orchestra took a silver dollar from his pocket and held it up until he had caught the comedian's eye. Then he slapped it upon his knets. Instantly Mr. Raymond put his hand to his head, and the friend noted the result and "tallied one." Again the coin was covered. This time the actor's hand sought his coat-tails, and so it went on through the performance, the friend keeping account and Raymond watching him from the stage and promptly signaling "heads" or "tails," while the audience remained in blissful ignorance of what was going on. When the curtain was finally rung down Raymond was fill ahead.

A. Communion Service Used for Tea.

[Ettsburg Dispatch.]

During the 'period of robberies one man secured some wine, another oranges, another the communion service, and others material for a nice supper. One of the men got married, or had a celebration of some kind, and the supper was made up of the stolen articles. The man who had stolen the communion service thought it was a silver tea set, and placed it on the table. When the table was all ready one of the men dropped in, and, seeing the communion service, excitedly asked if that belonged to a certain brakeman. He was told that it was that individual's tea set. "Tea set be blowed!" he yelled, and ran after the man, fold him that it was a communion service, and it was removed forthwith.

Drew His Boots Off with an Engine

Drew His Boots Off with an Engine [Chicago Herald.]

"It isn't very often that you hear of a man using a locomotive for a bootjack," said an engineer on the Atlantic Road. "Walt Coleman, a brakeman on a freight train, set out one bitter cold night to flag a passenger just south of Hammond. He was out about two hours, and when he came back his fingers and ears were badly frozen. After we had got some whisky down him, and had rubbed his hands and ears in snow, we tried to remove his boots, but his feet were so badly swollen that they could not be pulled off. Coleman was an economical cuss, and he would not let us cut them off his feet. He said that the boots had cost him 77 but two weeks before, and he could not afford to lose them so soon, even by so doing he would be relieved of his sufferings. It was finally agreed to take Coleman out to the locomotive, stick his bootheels between the slots of the cowcatcher, and then back up. When everything was ready the engineer reversed his engine, while we clung to Coleman's arms and shoulders. The boots came off quick enough, but Coleman's legs came so near going with them that there was no fun in it."

A Masher Made to Feel Small.

A Masher Made to Feel Small.

[Bradford Era.]

The Erie train was approaching Limestone. In one seat a young lady sat alone; across the aisle sat a would-be masher. Just before the train stopped he arose and. addressing her, said: "I beg pardon, but I will take a seat with you, if you prefer, as a crowd will get in here, and some objectionable person may occupy it."

"Thank you, sir," said she, "but no one can get in at this station with whom I am less acquainted than with you."

The would-be gallant retired discomfited to his own side of the car, and the young lady, who was from Bradford, continued to occupy her seat without disturbance.

"Of course," asserted a fellow-actor; "because in stepping off to escape one train you may be run down by another."
And then the wind whistled mournfully through their three-days' growth of whiskers.

Why Commissions Are Created.

[Macon Telegraph.]

"Pa, what is a commission?"

"A commission, my son, is a committee appointed to work out problems that legislative bodies haven't the courage or ability to solve." "And do the commissions always work them out?"

"Oh, no, indeed; but in the long run, my child, it is better for the people to abuse the commissions than the legislators."

Sad Condition of Rural Culture.
[Middletown Press.] [Middletown Press.]
The Lancaster papers think some of their young men are lacking in general information, because, while a number of them were being examined for a cadetship at West Point, one of them, replying to the question, "Are there any of the ex-Presidents of the United States living?" said: "One, Gen. Author, and he is said to be very sick."

Where Man Is Measured by Figures.
[Norristown Herald.]

The recent art sales in New York demonstrated that a $500 painting owned by a prominent man will bring $10,000 at public auction, while a $10,000 picture owned by an unknown individual is frequently knocked down for $500.

BUSINESS TOPICS.

HUNTINGTON.

Prices Will Advance Next Monday.

The prices of lots in beautiful Huntington will be advanced next Monday from 20 to 30 per cent., owing to the rapid sale of lots and great success of the enterprise and the fact that prices are now one-third those paid for lots in less desirable locations.

An immense supply of water is now bein piped through the streets and avenues, an several residences and stores are to be erected at once, the first store to be stocked with boots and shoes. There is an excellent opening for a drug store. A few more choice lots left at old prices, this week only, at offices of Wiesen-danger & Bonsail and S. D. Hovey, 25 First street, and at all the leading Pasadona real-estate offices.

Owing to the large sales and great demand the prices of lots in Burbank will soon be advanced again, as the buildings, improvements and location justify double the present prices which are still lower than any surrounding towns of not half the advantages or impor tance as a suburban foothill home to Los An-gelès. Its commanding view, on the through line of railroad, only fitteen minutes' ride, is second to none in Southern California.

Base-ball.

The Pioneer club, of San Francisco, will play the Peck & Rüggles club at Agricultural Park today at 3:30 p.m.

The Pioneer, of San Francisco, will play the Greenhood & Moran club, of Oakland, on Sunday, May 15th, at 2 p.m. The Santa Monica train will take passengers to Agricultural Park from the old depot, leaving at 1 p.m. Fare, round trip, 25 cents.

Beautiful Huntington

Remember, today is the last day to secure lots in beautiful Huntington at half-price. Monday next the large advance in prices will go into effect. Don't fail to secure a lot today, at 25 First street, corner Spring, upstairs.

Price of lots in this lovely town will be only $30 to $75. The most desirable lots ever of-fered at any such figures. Sure to be ad-vanced from $99 to $390 and $175 to $450 in thirty days. Maps and price list will be read;

STREET-SPRINKLING.

AN INTOLERABLE NUISANCE IS TO BE ABATED.

The Board of Health After Contractor Dunnigan with a Sharp Stick, on Account of His Failu to Sprinkle Properly.

The Board of Health met at the Council chamber yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Mayor Workman called the board to order, and stated that complaints about the neglect of street-sprinkling were coming in at the rate of fifty a day.

Superintendent of Streets Pike said he had ordered two more carts to be put on this week, but they did not have competent drivers, and the inside routes are very badly sprinkled, while the outside routes are ter attended to. The drivers spend too much time going back and forth to their meals. The contract states that they shall meals. The contract states that they shall be sprinkling from 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening, but the drivers get out late and go home at 5 or earlier.

The Mayor: Mr. Dunnigan complains that there are not enough hydrants.

Mr. Pike: He has more hydrants this year than ever before.

Mr. Collins thought that Dunnigan had taken the contract too low, and is not able to properly water the streets for the price. He has taken it too low.

Mr. Goss said it was his own price, and he ought to be compelled to properly sprinkle the streets.

Mr. Collins thought he ought to be ordered to stand aside and let some one else take the contract.

Mr. Frankanfield said there was no use to

Mr. Collins thought he ought to be ordered to stand aside and let some one else take the contract.

Mr. Frankenfield said there was no use to trifle with him any longer, and he moved to notify his bondsmen, and make—them come to time. He thought the City Attorney should be instructed to begin an action against Dunnigan's bondsmen if they do not compet him to give the property-owners proper service.

Mr. Breed moved to amend Mr. Frankenfield's motion to read that the City Attorney notify Mr. Dunnigan and his bondsmen, and if they fail to comply with the contract, then the city will bring sult against them, and annul the contract. Carried.

Mr. Frankenfield moved that the Superintendent of Streets detail a special officer to attend to street-sprinkling during the pleasure of the city. Carried. Mr. Pike was ordered to put the man- on Monday morning and pay him policeman's wages.

The superintendent of Agricultural Park appeared before the board, and asked that he be allowed to put on a sprinkling-cart during the races. Referred to the Superintendent of Streets.

A lot of bills were taken up and referred back to the Health Officer.

SAUSAL REDONDO RANCHO.

We are now offering for sale choice lands in the ROSECRANS tract and in SAUSAL RE-DONDO RANCHO, four to eight miles south of Los Angeles, at prices that defy competition. The soil is mostly of a fine, sandy loam, and is capable of producing abundant crops of all kinds of grain, regetables and fruits. Lying near the city, and some portions near Port La Ballona, market facilities equal if not superior to any in the county are here to be had. Parties looking for homes or for profitable investments are requested to call at our office and we will take pleasure in showing the lands. Correspondence solicited.

HYDE PARK!

Look where you will in the vicinity of the city of Los Angeles, in search either of lots or acre property, for charming homes, and the best judgments will be convinced at a glance as to the difficulty of finding a location for a town so beautiful, such pure and bracing air, and smooth, rich lands as characterizes Hyde Park. This splendid townsite is located on the line of the California Central, of the A., T. & S. F. system, which is to connect Los Angeles with the new harbor at La ballona, and is distant 7½ miles from the center of the city: a midway town between the city and the harbor. Trains are to be running through the tract by July next, when great business activity all along the line will be the order of the day. Liberni-sized lots, 60x180 feet, fronting on sixty-foot avenues, are offered and being taken rapidly at $100 each; $40 cash, balance $10 per month, without interest. Such terms give the pregent purchasers a good opportunity to make money in the rising values that must follow the effects of the larbor and railroad developments. Particularly desirable are the 5 and 10 seps villa lots surrounding the town. Conveyances leave the office at 1:30 p.m., to show parties the beautiful property.

POWENA"-LOVELIEST OF SPOTS FOR THE REST OF MAN Attent the busy toil of daily labor. Each under his own fig tree, was the sum total of the ancients' happiness, and now is offered to the weary and the rest-seeker land which will mable him to be where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary can rest in the

Not on the glaring plain, unsheltered by the leafy protectors of the Great Creator's handlwork, but under the bough-laden trees, with the fruit heavy on the branches, for shelter from the wind and protection from the heat and refreshment for the parched spirit. Specially has the owner of this paradise divided up his land so that each may have his acres and his fruit—his earthly comfort and his daily rest—within a pleasant walk or drive from his seat of toil.

The not covered with the ever-present orange groves, but with the lovely peach, apricot, apple and pear-bearers. Now are the trees laden as none ever were exceeded.

"ROWENA!"

Visit this tract, respiendent in its glory of fruit and blossom, shaded with rows of cypress; not of a month's propagation, but of the growth of years, sheltering from the wind and the sun as did the gourd of Jonah shelter him as of old. They will not wither in the night, but will ever, on this soil, maintain their strength and increase year by year in their beauty. "ROWENA"

Is not surpassed in its leveliness by any property at Pasadena, Sierra Madre or elsewhere. It is fanned by the breezes of the ocean in the eventide and is lit by God's sunlight ever in the day. Buy acres at "ROWENA"

700 ACRES

In Los Angeles, Divided Into Only 1300 LOTS.

PRICES OF LOTS:

Up to 100 ft. Front, $150; Half-acre Lots, $200; From 1-2 to 1 Acre, $300; From 1 to 4 Acres, $400; 5-acre Lots, $750.

TERMS-One-fifth cash, balance in eight equal monthly payments, without interest. These prices will continue only until June 1, 1887, when they will positively be advanced. All who purchase before that date will have the benefit of the advanced prices.

The entire tract is beautifully situated, with a charming view, pure air and water and perfect drainage. The Ostrich Farm Dummy Railroad runs through the tract, with a five-cent fare guaranteed to and from the center of the city. This road will be completed to the tract July 1, 1887. Pure and abundant water will be piped thro' all the streets.

The title to the property is absolutely perfect. A complete abstract will be kept in the office of the company for the inspection of all purchasers, and a certificate of title will be furnished to each buyer with his deed.

This tract is situated upon the hills, which are rapidly becoming the most desirable residence portion of the city. The soil is a warm, sandy loam, free from frost, being in what is known as the warm belt. The elevation is such that the temperature is more even than in the city.

NOTE-The first purchasers have first choice. Free carriage to the tract every day from the office of the agents, at 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Maps and circulars and all information can be had from

AFTER MANY DAYS.

THE MAN WHO BROKE INTO A HONEYMOON CHAMBER,

And Tried to Shoot the Honeymooners, Last September, Is l'inally Captured—An Inglorious Ending of a Promised Sensation.

About the first of last August a German About the list of list August a Cellian named Paul Dohlitz was married to a buxom young Spanish girl. They took up their quarters in a little cottage on Castelar street, and for about thirty days their honeymoon was all that could be desired. One night early in September they went to bed quite early, and before 9:30 o'clock Dohlitz was sleeping the sleep of the just. All of a sudden he was awakened by the cries of his wife. The rest of his story is best told in his own language, as he spun it out to a wife. The rest of his stary is the sum it out to a Times reporter yesterday.

"I was sleeping like nodings, ven mine vife call me in der ribs mit her hans togeder, and I voked up like all schiminies. She pointed mit her hand to de vindow, and mine hair go straight up to der seeling, I vas so seart mid mineself. A man mit a great pig pistol vas crawling in der vindow, and, ven I raise me up in der ped, dot man point his pistol at mine vife und me, und I dinks our last days had come. I youmps me out of ped und grabs dat man mid der pistol, und ine und mine vife took it avay from him, und I rush me down to der police house, und in fife minutes dar vas dwenty officer looking for dot man, but dey could not find him, und I don't see him again until last night. Den I looked up Constable Martin Aguirre und he arrest him. I vos glat all over, for I vas peen looking for dot man all der time, und I make him sweat for dot."

"Well, who was the man?" asked the reporter.

"His name vas Harry Lockertt, und he

"Well, who was the man?" asked the reporter.

"His name vas Harry Lockertt, und he vas mine vife's old sweetheart, but I got avay mit der girl, pet ver poots, und now I vant to got avay mit him."

During this conversation Dohlitz was gaietly waiting for Harry to come into Justice Taney's court, but when he did arrive it was learned that the complaint was in Justice Austin's court, and the party had to go over there. On the way over Dohlitz asked what witnesses Lockertt would have, and, when that individual informed him that his own wife would be the defendant's principal witness, he wilted, and wanted Lockertt to plead guilty to simple assault. This the defendant gladly did, and, when the case was called, he was fined $0, and the two men departed.

LOTS OF BRICK.

The Long, Serious Brick Famine to Be Relieved. Councilman Thomas Goss, the brick potentate, said yesterday to a representa-tive of The Times: "I think that after next week you will hear no more about the brick famine. Half a million bricks, just burned, are now cooling off in our yards and will be ready for delivery tomorrow. Half a million more will be fired tomorrow or Sunday. Next week there will be abou 1,500,000 brick burning, and we hope to be able to keep steadily up with the demand thereafter."

A Narrow Escape.
Yesterday afternoon a horse and buggy, containing a lady and child, on their way to Boyle Heights, passed over the First-street bridge. On approaching the grade street bridge. On approaching the grade where workmen are engaged in laying pipe, the horse became frightened, and, gaining control over its driver, plunged over the embankment. All-present expected a serious accident to ensue, as the descent is very steep and covered with shrubs and boulders; but, lucklily, the vehicle did not overturn, and when the horse stopped, about forty feet down, its occupants were unhurt, though considerably frightened. It being impossible to turn the horse and reascend the embankment, ropes were hitched on to the back of the buggy, and in that manner it was hauled to the roadway again.

City Land Sold. The city did quite a rushing business in the corner lot business, and the treasury is some $9000 better off today than it was yesterday. In the forenoon a little strip of land not more than ten feet wide by forty land not more than ten feet wide by forty long was sold for $5885 to a Mr. Vickery. In front of whose place it is located. The property is situated on the north side of New Main street, at the junction of Alameda street, and stood between Mr. Vickery's lot and the new street. The Council fixed the price at $500, and thought it was pretty high at that.

A lot belonging to the city, adjoining Mrs. Banning's residence, on Fort street, and measuring fifty feet frontage, was sold to that lady for $5800.

A Fruit-store Burglar. 1:30 last night Deputy C Benedict was standing on the corner of Second and Spring streets, when he heard a noise at M. Tonich & Co.'s fruit-store. a noise at M. Tonich & Co.'s fruit-store.
When he neared the place a man popped up and started off on the dead run, and the officer after him. Benedict gave up the chase after going several blocks, and when he returned to the store he found that the man had cut a hole through the wire large enough to crawl in, but the officer scared him off before he could accomplish his purfose.

- A Big Price.

An experienced paving contractor and maker of granite blocks said to a TIMES representative yesterday: "There is a nigger in the woodpile somewhere. I see the lowest bid on granite blocks is 28 cents a square foot. That means a fortune for somebody. In San Francisco the price for paving with granite blocks is 18 cents per square foot, and that leaves a liberal margin for the contractor. Twenty cents a foot is an enormous price, and as for 28 cents—well, the less said about that the better."

J. A. Fillmore, general superintendent of the Southern Pacific Railroad, went North by special train at 4:15 p.m. yesterday, bound for Ventura. He is accompanied by E. G. Gerald, general auditor; Superintendent ent of Track Curtis; Superintendent of Lo-comotives Stephenson and Harry Clawson, superintendent of eating-houses. The party has been on a tour of inspection of all the Southern Pacific Railroad lines between this city and El Paso.

Fort-street Property. Hon. H. T. Hazard has sold his lot on the west side of Fort street, between Fourth and Fifth, for $19,500. The lot is the vacant one, grown up with neglected trees and vines, and has a frontage of fifty-five feet. The price was, therefore, $354.40 per front foot. Eighteen months ago the property was offered for $3500.

CATARRH!

THROAT DISEASES, BRONCHITIS. ASTHMA, CONSUMPTION

EYE, EAR AND HEART,

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D., No. 275 North Main Street, few doors south of the new pos Angeles, Cal.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

DR. WILLIAMS, With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

troduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Fhroat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and cot he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but shorter class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking er singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as. for instance, a hair, obstructed the threat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Inhalations we applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation is the form of medicated vapor (not steam of sprsy) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharmyx and usasl passages, for air will find the way into the most remote and intricate cay titles, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. GORMLEY'S CASE.

THE STATE MAKES A VERY SLENDER SHOWING.

A Newspaper Collector on Trial for Shooting Over the Head of a Too Previous Dude—The Evidence All

Readers of The Times will remember the old case of J. C. Gormley, charged with assault to murder an impulsive youth named Fuller at Pomona, over a year ago. A regular correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat had sent off to his paper a long tellegram about Fuller and a young heiress from St. Louis. Mr. Gormley procured a copy of this telegram and sent it to The Times. Next day Fuller met him, accused him of being the author of the pieze, and slapped his face. He was physically much superior to Gormley, who pulled a little pistof and shot in the air to frighten off his assailant. Gormley has been sick a off his assailant. Gormley has been sick a great deal since, and the case has been postgreat deal since, and the case has been postponed several times. / It came at last to trial before Judge O'Melveny yesterday, Mr.
Gormley being represented by Stephen M.
White and Mr. Foley. The following jury was secured: C. Apablasa, J. M. Wolfskill.
C. C. Cook, C. K. Kimball, R. M. Ramsaur.
D. Çampbell, D. V. Waldron, T. E. Walker,
Thomas Edwards, D. G. Stephens, A. F.
Kercheval, F. M. Mathews.

Kercheval, F. M. Maulews.

PETER FLEMING
sworn: I reside at Pomona. I was passing by Mr. Gormley and Mr. Fuller. I was not acquainted with Gormley. He was ing by Mr. Gormley and Mr. Fuller. I was not acquainted with Gormley. He was pointed out to me, by a man who seemed to know him, as the man that wrote the article about Mr. Fuller. After passing by I crossed the street to the other side of the block. They were talking in a low manner. I turned round after crossing the street, and saw Mr. Fuller slap Mr. Gormley in the face, Mr. Gormley is the ped back, faced, drew a revolver and fired. He snapped once or twice, and the second or third time the pistol went off. They were about three paces apart then. At the time his face was slapped they were about three foet apart. The pistol was pointed at his breast. I was about a hundred feet from them, diagonally across the street.

Cross-examined by Mr. White: I did not see Fuller get hold of him. After the pistol was fired, Fuller stepped up to him. He may have taken hold of him at that time, as the pistol was dropped to the ground. He used the left hand in slapping. Gormley's back was partly toward me. I had no trouble with Gormley, except a little matter in connection with the collection of a bill for my brother. I testified on preliminary examination that "I am not altog-ther unfriendly with him." I testified that I called him "that fellow" space in a conversation with my brother. I said, "That is the fellow that got away with the hall rent."

S. WEISGOFF

s. WEISGOFF sworn. His statements corroborated statements of the previous witness a to the shooting: I saw Gormley step back two or three steps, go to his hip-pocket and draw his pistol. Fuller threw up his hands so as to shield his face when the pistol was drawn.

Cross-examined: I could only see one hand. I don't remember whether I testified that Fuller's hand was down on his hip. If I did, it was correct.

o. A. R. VON BOMIS
sworn: I reside at Pomona. I knew the parties by sight. I was coming down Second street. Heard the two parties speaking ond street. Heard the two parties speaking rather loud about a publication. Fuller wanted Gormley to take it back. Gormley said he was responsible for what had appeared. Fuller slapped him then. Gormley stepped back and drew his revolver, and it snapped once and then. went off. Fuller threw up his hand, and said, "Don't shoot." He fired, and then Fuller ran at him, and the revolver was dropped in the street. I picked it up.

Cross-examination elicited nothing new. I was about eight feet from them.

J. C. GORMLEY

J. C. GORMLEY sworn: I am the defendant. I reside in Los Angeles. On the morning of the 29th of January, 1880, there was a communication in the Los Angeles Times, sent in by myself. It was a copy of a dispatch that was sent to St. Louis, to the Globe-Democrat. A lady had run away from St. Louis, as it was stated, after it had been published in the Riverside paper and in the Express.
That morning I was warned that Mr. Fuller was hunting for me to seek trouble with me. I went and got a small twenty-twocaliber pistol. I met Mr. Fuller on the corner of Second and Main streets. He accosted me, and said he wanted to speak to me.
I told him "Certainly." We stepped back from the front of Mr. Bates's store door to the intersection of the sidewalks on the corner. He then told me that there was an article which had been published in The Times reflecting on a certain young lady in connection with him; that it was over my signature, and he wanted me to retract it. of January, 1880, there was a communica Times reflecting on a certain young lady in connection with him; that it was over my signature, and he wanted me to retract it. I told him I did not write it; that it was simply a copy of a dispatch, and that I had not added a word to it; that I was not responsible for it; that I had simply said, "The following is a copy of a dispatch sent," etc. He said: "In that communication there is a reflection on a young lady friend of mine." I said: "There is no reflection that I know of. What is it?" He stated some part of it. I told him I could not help lt; I was not responsible for it. He kept on saying: "You are responsible, and you must take it back or get hurt." When he was, speaking his hands were both behind him under his coat. I had been warned, and supposed he was armed. I told him I had nothing to retract; that I had not written it. He hauled off and slapped me. I stepped back and drew my pistol. I tried to cock it as I drew it, and it snapped. I supposed he would draw a weapon, from his atticade, and my pistol was ready to go; but when I saw that I did not need to shoot him, so I raised the pistol and shot over his head. There were people behind him and I did not want to shoot that way, so I fired above him. Then there was a clinch, and some one stepped in and soparated us. I had been sick for two days, and have been six weeks in the hospitat since. He was fitty pounds heavier than I, and could whip three or four such men as I was at that time.

H. H. Beyce, B. F. Coulter and S. C. Curtis testified to the same effect.

This closed the evidence. The Assistant District Attorney, George J. Denis, stated to the jury during his argument that he believed justice would be done in this case if the defendant were convicted of an assault with a deadly weapon, or, at least, a simple assault, and asked that he be found guilty of either of those offenses.

Pending the giving of the instructions the court adjourned till this morning at 9 o'clock.

The Water Not Yet Turned On-A Fine Tract.

Judge R. M. Widney returned Thursday morning from Hesperia, whither he and Messrs. R. R. Brown, D. M. Berry and Dr.
Kline went the day before to witness the turning on of the water from the Mojave River, or Deep Creek, into the main ditch which has been constructed through Hesperia. A dispatch was sent to Judge Widney saying that a number of boulders had rolled into the ditch, and that the water would not be formally turned in until the 17th inst.,
but the dispatch miscarried, and the party did not learn that they were to be disappointed until too late.

The tract of Hesperia is six miles square and consists of 32,000 acres. It is situated 1000 feet above the Mojave Desert, and 3000 feet above the level of the ocean. It is fallling mesa land, and situated thirty-six miles from San Bernardino. It is considered one of the finest tracts of land in Southern California, and admirably adapted to citrus fruits. It is especially adapted to the grape vines in a very few years. It will be cut up into tracts of forty acres, and will be widney stated that they can turn on a stream of water from the Mojave River equal to 30,000 inches, but it will not take over 15,000 inches to properly irrigate the lands. The townsite is in the center of the tract and $50,000 worth of lots, ranging in price from $60 to $150 per lot, have already been sold to reople who were anxious to secure the first harvest. The company is now preparing plans and specifications for a large stone-front hotel, which will be located in the center of the town.

The hotel will cost $23,000 and will be a twostory evening at the residence of Milton Thomas. Jefferson street. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers, ivy, palm leaves and cotton—the work of Mrs. Beckett and Mrs. Carter—calling from the guests many expressions of admiration. The presents were many and appropriate to the occasion. The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Barrows, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Shafer, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Towne, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Beckett, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. and Miss Goodwin, Miss Gertie Williams, Miss Bertha Lindley, Misses Barrows, Miss Emma Sinsabaugh, Miss Cella Hamby, Miss Lizzle Stevens.

Refreshments were served during the evening, among which was some of the wedding cake.

Wedding at Westminster.

May 4th Everett Trefethen was married to Miss Hattie Beckett, at Westminster, by Rev. F. A. Field. There was a very pleasant circle of friends present.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE.

The Employes Stirred Up Over Recont Orders.

The watchmen or doorkeepers at the Government Printing Gffice, recently appointed under Public Printer Benedict, are enforcing an old order or rule issued by a former Public Printer, forbidding the employés to carry out packages of any description without a pass. Great dissatisfaction prevails over the enforcement of the order, especially among the female employés, who have been in the habit of doing their shopping during the lunch hour. A majority of the employés who have their shoe work done near the office and delivered to them in the affernoon, object to the enforcement of the order, because they are required to obtain a pass each time to carry out their old shoes. The passes are collected by the watchmen at the different doors, and turned in to the Public Printer in the morning.

Recently the employés were furnished with blank forms to fill out and turn in to the Public Printer. In filling out these blanks they are required to give their name and city address in full, their legal residence and their residence at he time of their appointment. They are also required to state whether they are married or single, soldier or sailor, or widow or child of either. It is thought by the employés that this action was taken in order that names might be selected from them when a discharge was to occur, and that the discharges would be sent to their homes instead of being distributed in the office by the foreman.

Today is the last day of the first two weeks under which the regular two-week's payments are to be made, and many employés are looking forward to a discharge this afternoon. It is denied that any of the ladies have refused to permit the watchmen to search their lunch-baskets, as has been published.

Beecher's First Sermon.

The following account of Henry Ward Beecher's first sermon outside of the walls of a theological school will be read with interest by all. It is taken from a letter written to a friend in Chicago by a lady at whose father's house Mr. Beecher was stopping on that momentous occasion. The place was Batavia, O. The lady writes: "Immediately after the close of the commencement exercises at Lane Seminary, at Cincinnati, Henry Ward came here to visit his brother George, who was pastor of the Presbyterian Church here. Saturday afternoon the two brothers were lying in the shade of a tree, when George, who had been quite ill, said to Henry: "You must preach for me tomorrow." The younger brother declined, and George appealed to my mother, who asked Henry if he didn't intend to begin some time, adding that then was as good a time as any. The next day he preached, taking his text from the 15th and 16th verses of the 103d Psalm. I remembered the text, and in after years he confirmed my recollection, I remember that he was very graceful in his gestures, and one in particular father commended as very expressive. "Twas this: Touching his face, he said, 'A quiver of the muscles, a blanch of the cheek, a closing of the eye, and he is gone.' So expressive was the gesture that it seemed to be acted out. Henry had here in the said and had presched. gone.' So expressive was the gesture that it seemed to be acted out. Henry had been licensed, and had preached to the faculty of the seminary before this."

A Reverie.

Whatever the song, no matter how orude,
Each word will touch some wounded heart,
Whoever the singer, no matter how rude,
At a fancied resemblance some one will start.

Whatever the coin, no matter how small, It will fill one hungry mouth; Whatever the word; though lightly let fall, The beggar will feel it as charity's truth.

Whatever the thought, if kindly and good, If it aims to help our brother men, Whoever the thinker, though untaught a rude, God be thanked for all such men.

Whoever the woman, though weak at heart, Who enters the gate of a sin-clad shrine— And shows that soul the better part, Surely her love is half divine.

Whatever the thought, the deed, or the word, That we to the world bring forth, It will somewhere sprout, 'mid humanity's horde, And a blossom of virtue or crime bring forth.

The Toothpick and the Teeth.

The toothpick is an important instrument in taking proper care of the teeth; it should be brought into requisition after each meal, and a thorough use made of it in removing all particles of food or other foreign substances which may be lodged between them. The best toothpick yet invented is a quill from the wing of a goose, sharpened so as to readily pass between each tooth and its neighbor. The vigilant and thorough use of this little instrument would almost insure an average set of teeth from the ravages of decay. Too much importance has been laid upon tooth powders and washes; most of them are harmless and some beneficial. Precipitate chalk is the principal ingredient of nearly all the powders and tablets in the market and is measurably beneficial.
